During Term 1 students in the Middle and Senior Schools were lucky enough to be working with local artist Annalise Rees. Annalise’s works on paper are layered, stylised, fusions of architecture and landscape. This has worked particularly well with the theme of Dwellings in the Middle School. Ever-growing cardboard cities have now been completed and are currently on display in the Middle School Library. Annalise’s work with Senior Art students focused on the importance of recording one’s artistic journey through words and images; her own beautifully crafted journals inspiring many.
